Fiscal year 2020 marked the most challenging year for the Cooperatives and the Cooperative Development Authority in Region VII.

COVID-19 Pandemic put forward the country to a strict regulations in doing business and the cooperatives were affected. Most business operations were closed and more cooperatives especially those situated in the hinterlands have difficulties in coping with the on-line platform as the new normal in dealing business transactions.

On the other side, the principles of cooperation embraced by all cooperatives pave the way to survive and rise above with the enabling support of the Cooperative Development Authority. Various issuances are formulated as pro-active measures to address the needs of the cooperatives nationwide.

Strong partnerships and collaboration with the local government units, national government agencies, and large cooperatives are measures adopted and installed to minimize the effects of Pandemic in the cooperative business environment.

The Big Brother-Small Brother Program of the Authority together with the support of the local government units helped the micro and small cooperatives comply the mandatory reports. Hence, qualify the micro and small cooperatives to be issued with the Certificate of Compliance.

More collaborations are needed to help the cooperatives recover from the lost economic opportunities thereby adopting the new normal technology in doing business.

COOP SEED BENEFICIARY IN THE FRONTLINE FOR WELLNESS: VALENCIA DAIRY COOPERATIVE

By Gracia Nenita B. Banogon

Micro cooperatives like Valencia Dairy Cooperative (VADCO) of South Poblacion, Valencia, Negros Oriental is one of the cooperatives that were given series of capacity building seminars in 2018-2019 under the CDA-DTI COOP-SEED Partnership Program. The training equipped the officers and members to become farmer-entrepreneur vis à vis provided the opportunity for the cooperative to serve as the marketing channel of the products produced by the farmers.

COVID-19 pandemic extracted the best opportunity for the cooperative when the cooperative faced challenges in transporting their products due to the lockdown.

VADCO enlisted on-line as an agricultural supplier in the municipality. Orders came in and sales became better. The cooperative was producing 30 to 50 liters a day through manual operation. Yet, some of the orders were refused due to lack of facilities and manpower. Sales recorded in March was P26,871 and in April P67,399.00.

Before becoming a COOP SEED beneficiary, VADCO was only a supplier of raw milk to a private processing plant. After COOP-SEED Program, VADCO grew to a small scale milk producer and processor. With the assistance and technology given to them, they have learned that they can be an entrepreneur of their own.

The story of VADCO is no different from other large cooperatives. Great things start from small beginnings. The officers, management staff and members now realized the importance of being a Cooperative. More assistance are stored ahead from the Local Government Unit of Valencia, national government agencies and big brother cooperative through the assistance of the Cooperative Development Authority.

A way of imparting their Community Development Fund in the amount of P1,377.99, the micro cooperative stationed at checkpoints. VADCO is learning, advancing wellness at the advertising their products.

FRONTLINERS AND THEIR COOPERATIVE: SILLIMAN UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER CONSUMERS COOPERATIVE Dumaguete City

by Gracia Nenita B. Banogon, CDS II

The Silliman University Medical Center Consumers Cooperative situated within the compound of Silliman University Medical Center (SUMC), Dumaguete City, serves the personnel of the hospital, foremost of all. The “consumer” as they call it, is their “run to store” when they are on duty and for their grocery to bring home. It also serves the “walk-in canteen” for those have transactions/check-ups in the hospital.

At this time of the COVID-19 crisis, the cooperative is there to serve the members who are on duty everyday. The chairperson, Mr. Jose Siglos, said that the cooperative has to open to cater the needs of the members who are on-duty in the different departments of the hospital. The consumer store sells groceries, snacks and meals that are affordable to members. According to another officer, Ms. Rose Omaid, they have set extra precautionary measures in their operation in this times of crisis, especially for the cooperative’s employees and their customers. They secured a working pass from the City Hall for the cooperative employees to enable them to report regularly.

The Silliman University Medical Center Consumer Cooperative categorized as micro cooperative proves that the role and responsibility matters; to serve the members and community in this fight against COVID-19.

COOPERATIVES WORKING TOGETHER AMIDST COVID 19

by: MAriefel A. Taghoy, CDS II

The COVID 19 pandemic has caught everyone by surprise, causing disarray to the society. People from different walks of life are forced to stay at home to be protected from an enemy unseen to all.

In response to the call of our President to share in every little way we could offer, cooperatives in Region 7 have made great effort to respond to that call. CDA technical personnel are tasked to monitor and collect data from different cooperatives across the region.

Billionaire, millionaire, small and micro cooperatives extended assistance to the community where they operate. These assistance to the community were demonstrated and expressed in many ways like: giving of bags/packs of rice, distribution of snacks, facemasks, alcohol to the frontliners and many more. In times like COVID-19 pandemic, the cooperative spirit and bayanihan thrives to "heal as one".

Behind these photos are the 101 Cooperatives in Region VII continuously providing essential services amidst COVID-19 Enhanced Community Quarantine, and more cooperatives with data consolidation going-on.
